

Collaborating for better research

A day conference hosted by the
IfA Research and Impact Group

Wednesday 24 September, 10.00 - 16.30

Rm. 208, Attenborough, Second floor, Seminar block
University of Leicester, Archaeology and Ancient History

COSTS

IfA / IfA Research and impact group/ Students £10 (plus £1.25 booking fee) non members £20, includes group membership (plus £1.85 booking fee) unemployed - free (limited spaces)

10:00 – 10:30

Registration and coffee

10:35 – 10:45

Introduction – Natasha Powers, RIG Chair & Emma Dwyer, University of Leicester

Session 1: Using HERs and grey literature for academic research

10:45 – 11:15

Dr Anwen Cooper, University of Oxford - The English Landscape and Identities project: interpreting characterful data on an unprecedented scale

11:15 – 11:45

Dr Martyn Allen, University of Reading – Rural settlement in Roman Britain and the impact of developer-funded archaeology

11:45 – 12:30

Discussion session – Chair, Dan Miles, English Heritage

12:30 – 13:30

LUNCH (will be provided)

Session 2: How to collaborate

13:30 – 14:00

Nick Cooper, ULAS – Finding Richard III: The Ultimate (but not the last) Collaboration

14:00 – 14:30

David Petts, Durham University - Both sides of the trench: commercial archaeology in an academic environment - the Durham perspective.

14:30 – 15:00

Hal Dalwood, Freelance Archaeologist (formerly Senior Project Manager Worcester Country Council Archive and Archaeology Service) – Reading, writing and arithmetic: A starters guide to aligning archaeological research goals.

15:00 – 15:15

COFFEE

15:15 – 16:00

Discussion session – Chair, Emma Dwyer, University of Leicester

16:30

Close

For abstracts please visit the IfA Research and Impact Group page at www.archaeologists.net/groups/RIG

With sponsorship from

To book your place at <http://ifa-rig-collaborating-for-better-research.eventbrite.co.uk>

BURSARIES AVAILABLE: Thanks to the support of our sponsors, we are able to offer up to 3 travel bursaries specifically aimed at commercial archaeologists. To apply, please contact the RIG by emailing Lianne at lianne.birney@archaeologists.net, giving your affiliation and a short statement explaining why you would like to attend.