Edinburgh 2026

Annual Conference

27 – 28 APRIL 2026

EDINBURGH

The Chartered Institute for Archaeologists' 2026 conference will be hosted from Tuesday 27 – Wednesday 28 April 2026. CIfA2026 will be live at the John McIntyre Conference Centre in Edinburgh with sessions streaming live and recorded content available post-event.

Building connections

Building Connections is the theme of this year's conference, highlighting innovation and good practice in archaeology. It offers a forum for discussion, shared learning and collaboration to strengthen and future-proof our profession.

Throughout the event we'll explore current professional issues, showcase new developments and present research from archaeology and the wider heritage sector. As the leading UK conference for professional archaeologists, it attracts hundreds of participants from across the heritage environment.

Delegates include heritage professionals and those at the start of their careers, all seeking to deepen their understanding of policy and practice and enhance their skills. Attendees represent the full spectrum of the sector - from local authority curators and planning archaeologists to national heritage bodies, volunteers, consultants, directors, specialists, academics and industry partners.

CIfA conference attendee profile

- Our Annual conference attracts between 320-370 attendees over two days
- A third of attendees are senior within their individual firms
- 72 per cent of conference attendees spend time with our exhibitors
- The conference consistently attracts decision makers for the largest archaeology projects and firms in the UK

Previous exhibitor feedback

- 'It's always great to have the opportunity to meet with colleagues from across the sector and we made some useful new connections.'
- 'Thought provoking, energetic, inclusive, educational'
- 2024 exhibitors ranked their overall experience 4.33 out of 5

The work performed by UK development-led archaeology sector is valued at £309 million in 2022-23*

Exhibition

The conference provides a great platform for networking - not just in the exhibition and catering hall, but at our social events too. Make sure you check out the evening events on offer when you book your place to maximise your networking time.

IDEAS OR SUGGESTIONS?

We are certainly very open to any ideas or suggestions that you may have to enhance your visibility at ClfA2026 – please don't hesitate to contact us directly via: conference@archaeologists.net to further discuss.

STANDARD CONFERENCE BOOTH PACKAGE

A regular booth booking provides a physical presence on-site for any exhibitor. This consists of a standard trestle table, one delegate badge for a booth representative, two reduced price places for company representatives, and the company logo in the printed programme. The badges are non-transferrable, please consider the reps who will be attending carefully.

Exhibitor booth package (trestle table, room for banner, 1 representative and digital exhibitor page): £370

To book, please complete the booking form online. We recommend that you book early as there will be limited spaces. ClfA2025 sold out before conference! A late fee of £30 will be applied to exhibitors booking after 1 March 2026. Changes to staff attendees after 1 March 2026 (or failing to provide a list of staff) will incur a fee of £10 per change.

OTHER WAYS TO PARTICIPATE

SPONSOR A BURSARY

A fantastic way to support a student, those early in their careers, or an archaeologist who may be otherwise unable to otherwise attend ClfA2026. The bursary recipient will receive either a digital or full conference pass and will write a summary of their experience after the event. Organisations who support places will be named and thanked before and after the event and will have their logo and URL added to our bursary section on the ClfA2026 event web page.

Bursary sponsors also receive significant email and social media promotion as part of our marketing of bursary places.

Full access (live and digital)

- Student attendee - £100 for full digital/in person access
- Regular attendee - £240 for full digital/in person access
