Presented on behalf of JA by LL. LL thanked JA for his dedication over the past years.

4. Minutes of the last AGM:

Accepted. Proposed by AH and seconded by MG

Agreed that a new direction was required for the GeoSIG.

5. Financial Report:

A short report was delivered by AH. GeoSIG hadn't held any meetings in 2016 so only £30.00 of the group's £500.00 budget was allocated.

6. EuroGPR Report: presented by MG

EuroGPR's focus in 2016 was to finalise the new ESTI standards for Ultra-Wide Bandwidth users, in accordance with the review of the radio directive legal framework. The radio directive sets out the bandwidth and transition power of any device transmitting EM radiation in Europe. EuroGPR have been once more working with ESTI to secure fair rights for the GPR community. The ETSI standards should have been completed in December 2016, publication is expected in March with an implementation deadline of June 2017.

In 2017 EuroGPR aim is to increase exposure through Europe by having a presence at events throughout the year. This will include GeoBusiness in London and IWAGPR in Edinburgh. They are also trying to increase member's benefits which will include an on-line training material and an examination.

EuroGPR request members residing in the UK to update their details and include their Ofcom licence numbers.

7. NSGG Report: Presented by MG

The NSGG held two events in 2016; New advances in Geophysics and the 13th Archaeology and geophysics meeting held at Burlington house, London. Both events were well attended with the latter drawing over 110 delegates from the UK and Europe. As is custom, the profits from the 13th Archaeology and geophysics meeting will be donated to the Tony Clark Memorial fund. In past years this amount has been around £1000.00.

At the 2016 NSGG AGM the membership voted to initiate a Near Surface Geophysics Student Bursary. The bursary will be used to support student research projects and conference expenses.

2017 includes the biennial field exhibition at the NSGG's test site in Leicester. The event will be held on Thursday 11th of May and provides an opportunity for end users to operate equipment they may not always have access to.
