

Graphics Archaeology Group: Newsletter update

GAG Exhibition 2016

GAG's new exhibition panels at the ClfA Conference in Cardiff 2015

The GAG Exhibition will once more be on show at the ClfA Conference in April. There is the opportunity for MCIfA members who wish to exhibit their work to take part - this year we hope to include a catalogue of the work on show in delegate's information packs.

Please get in touch directly with exhibition organisers to find out how to submit examples of your work and an entry for the catalogue; this will be a brief biographical note about the illustrator or surveyor and a short resume of the sort of work undertaken.

This is an opportunity to display your work to the archaeological profession, but please note that we will need entries soon, and the deadline for submission is therefore Friday 26 February 2016.

Please contact Lesley Collett for more details: icollettgraphics@gmail.com

Standards and guidance

We are planning a meeting in June to discuss a Standards and Guidance document for archaeological illustration and survey. The meeting will involve those responsible for the commissioning of archaeological graphics, as well as many practitioners as possible, from a range of fields. We hope to come to some decisions about what the Standards and Guidance should include, and how we should go about producing them.

Other archaeological groups within ClfA have already produced Standards & Guidance documents which can be viewed on the ClfA website and will give some idea of what we need to think about.

If you are interested in taking part in discussions, please contact Laura Templeton, GAG Chair, via groups@archaeologists.net

GAG committee

For some years now a few stalwart members have given up their time and energy voluntarily to help run the Group on behalf of all other members.

We would greatly welcome some new faces on the committee and new ideas, as several have had to stand down or reduce their activity recently.

Please consider standing for election to the GAG Committee in order to continue its work with ClfA: election papers will be circulated shortly.

For further details about the posts please contact Lianne from ClfA at groups@archaeologists.net

Newsletter items

Don't forget that we are always looking for articles on interesting projects and developments in the graphics field.

If you are working on something fascinating, or have some new techniques to share, or have a publication or event to publicise, please let us know about it.

Please send contributions to groups@archaeologists.net.
